UNIVERSITI Tun Hussein Onn Malaysia's (UTHM) vice-chancellor Datuk Dr Mohd Noh Dalimin and officials from the university recently visited The New Straits Times Press Bhd new Batu Pahat branch office.

The UTHM entourage, which included Dr Asri Selamat, the Counselling and student development centre director and Associate Professor Siti Fauzeyah Syed Salim, head of the Office of University and Community Relations, was received by NSTP's regional head of advertising Abdul Ghani Ahamad.

Noh said the visit was organised to foster a better relationship between the university and the NSTP group.

"Even though UTHM and NSTP have a long relationship, visits such as this are important so we can update each other on the latest developments and to explore opportunities that benefit both parties," he said.
